What we do?

- Undergraduate courses in food and nutrition
- Undergraduate course in Dietetics
- MSc Public Health Nutrition
- Research expertise in food science (texture) and Public Health Nutrition & Dietetics

What are we looking for

- Teaching, Learning and Research collaboration within the areas of food science and health.
- We are particularly interested in developing research collaborations between NZ and UK which address the interface between food science, consumer behaviour and health in respect of pro and pre biotics and exploring the use of innovative platforms to disseminate knowledge (in UK & NZ).
- We would also like to explore the development of joint on line continuous professional development training programmes using a range of digital media.
